ABOUT DAPHNE

Daphne Bach Greer is a grief advocate, author, speaker, and the founder of Grieving Gumdrops: The Sweeter Side of Grief. After losing her five-year-old daughter Lydia in a 2008 car accident, Daphne left a career in adult parole to dedicate her life to helping bereaved parents find hope, faith, and purpose after devastating loss. She is the author of Barely Breathing and Mending Hearts with Threads of Hope, co-author of the Grief Diaries anthology series, a board member of Ellie's Way, co-founder of Lydia's Love nonprofit, and a contributing writer for Her View From Home, The Mighty, HavingTime, The Grief Toolbox, and others. Her work has reached hundreds of thousands of grieving hearts across the globe.
